

Omega Delta Provides School Supplies to a Community in Need

On Saturday, August 11th, 2018, the members of the Omega Delta Alumni Association shined a light of hope by donating more than 100 book bags filled with school supplies to the Coatesville community.

Parents and children lined up with smiles on their faces to receive the much-needed supplies to get them prepared for the new school year. This year's community support project was the second time the chapter partnered with Lifeline Community Church, led by Pastor Gary Lewis, and local community leaders to do a back to school drive.

Located in Chester County, Pennsylvania, Coatesville is a multi-racial community with over 5,000 households. According to the most recent census, nearly half of the households and families living in Coatesville are black, with many of those families living below the poverty line.

The partner with this community is one that comes from a place of passion within the Chapter President, Darius Taylor. With family in Coatesville, the community holds a special place in his heart and has propelled many of the service initiatives to give back that Omega Delta has supported. The chapter members would like to thank the Coatesville community for the opportunity to serve them.
